How we work.

No smoke, no mirrors.

Our process

We have a structured approach to all aspects of what we do. A producer is appointed who will be responsible for the project and is the primary interface between yourselves and us.

During production key stakeholders in the separate disciplines (creative, technical etc.) will oversee the production of the deliverables and will play a key role throughout the process.

Throughout the process key milestones and meetings to ensure a collaborative and dynamic process from inception through to delivery. This is supported use of a simple online tool to track progress, gather feedback and manage change requests.

Collaboration is key to our process and within all phases of work there are opportunities for you to give feedback on what is being produced; your input is vital to a projects success and we value it highly.

Let's look at some work.

We're pretty proud of it.

Case studies

We have selected three projects that feel showcases our abilities in the disciplines relevant to your project.

If you would like to see further case studies or want to discuss our work in more detail, please don't hesitate to contact us.

Opposite we offer three referees with whom we have worked in the previous 12 months.

The system integrates seamlessly with Microsoft Sharepoint which is used by the college internally to manage network access.

The collage consists of four images arranged in a 2x2 grid. The top image is a 3D aerial map of the University of Winchester campus, with a navigation bar at the top showing 'Intro', 'Main Campus', 'Learning' (highlighted in yellow), 'Living', and 'Leisure'. The second image shows a courtyard with a white bench and a yellow magnifying glass icon. The third image shows the interior of a large hall with a yellow magnifying glass icon. The fourth image is a close-up of a person's face.
